The rise of the new West : the history of a region in Confederation / John F. Conway. 4th edition. Toronto : James Lorimer & Company, 2014. 399 pages. FC 3206 Con

From the publisher:

From the Riel Rebellions and the Winnipeg General Strike to the founding of the CCF, Social Credit, and Reform parties, Canada's West has always been a hotbed of political, social, and economic change. In the early twentieth century those calls for change emanated from the left as farmers and workers fought for social and economic justice. In the past two decades, the protests and calls for change emanated from the right as the region gained a new role for itself in Canada.

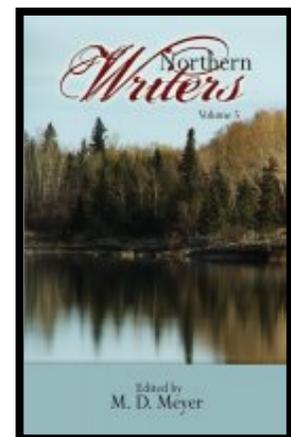

This history chronicles the rise and fall of such figures as Grant Devine, Bill Vander Zalm, Glen Clark, Roy Romanow, Stockwell Day, and Lorne Calvert -- and the emergence of Stephen Harper and the federal Conservatives. It describes how the West, the political wellspring of progressive changes over the years, has been transformed into the bastion of the right, culminating in the virtual annihilation of the NDP in Saskatchewan, the cradle of social democracy in Canada.

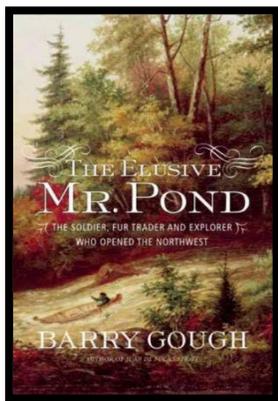

Northern writers, volume 5 / edited by M.D. Meyer. Norway House : Goldrock Press, 2014. 90 pages. PS 8255 .M28 Nor

From the publisher:

Northern Writers: Volume 5 has something to suit every taste with a rich smorgasbord of writing styles and genres all reflecting the wealth of diversity found in the North.

Contributions to this anthology include a legend embedded in a story of a boat ride with his grandfather by Ferrin Towers; a numismatist's view of Manitoba's trade tokens by historian Scott M. Hopkins; a children's story about York Boat Days by Corrine Clyne; memories of the S.S. Keenora by celebrated story-teller Clarence Thordarson; reflective stories for youth by young adult author, Dana L. Coates and children's book author, Brenda Fontaine; an essay on Aboriginal Poverty by university student David Kelvin McKay; poems by local writers Doug Senio and Marcel C. Menow; a blog post about his new life in Africa by Josiah Meyer; poems and song lyrics by Dorene Meyer and Paul Meyer; children's stories from teachers Erin Hopkins and Samuel Parmar; memories of Holland during World War II by former northern outpost nurse Suzanna Abels-Meyer; and memories of her childhood in Tootinawaziibeeng First Nations by Deborah Ironside.

The elusive Mr. Pond : the soldier, fur trader and explorer who opened the Northwest / Barry Gough. Madeira Park, British Columbia : Douglas & McIntyre, 2014. xxv, 230 pages.
CT 1 Pond, Peter Gou

From the publisher:

Sir Alexander Mackenzie is known to schoolchildren as a great Canadian explorer who gave his name to the country's longest river, but hardly anyone could name the man who mentored Mackenzie and mapped much of northwestern Canada before him. Soldier, fur trader and explorer Peter Pond, the subject of this long overdue book, is a man whose legend has been forgotten in favor of those who came after him. Much of Pond's life is shadowed in mystery. Historian Barry Gough uses Pond's surviving memoirs, explorers' journals, letters written by acquaintances of Pond, publications in London magazines and many other sources to track and reconstruct the life of one of the last of the tough, old-style explorers who ventured into the wilderness with little more than a strong instinct for survival and helped shape the modern world.

Premonitions of war : the Winnipeg Free Press in the Hitler years / by Robert J. Young. Winnipeg : Winnipeg Free Press, 2015. 251 pages.
PN 4784 .W37 You

From the publisher:

Premonitions of War tells the story of the weighty international matters that haunted the editorial staff at the Winnipeg Free Press in the 1930s

In the 1930s, John Dafoe and the editorial writers of the Winnipeg Free Press warned readers of international maladies that were about to disrupt the world.

The worst moments could be traced back to those whom Dafoe had called fascist "madmen," Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. It was in them that the observers on Carlton Street saw the greatest threat to the hard-won peace of 1919, the peace that had finally emerged from the wreckage of the First World War.

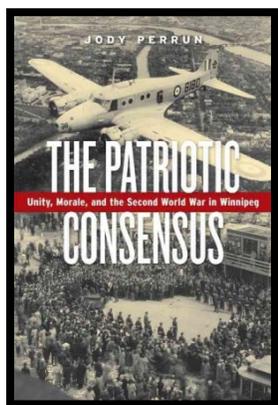

The patriotic consensus : unity, morale, and the Second World War in Winnipeg / Jody Perrun. Winnipeg : University of Manitoba Press, 2014. 292 pages, 16 unnumbered pages of plates.
FC 3396.4 Per

From the publisher:

When the Second World War broke out, Winnipeg was Canada's fourth-largest city, home to strong class and ethnic divisions, and marked by a vibrant tradition of political protest. Citizens demonstrated their support for the war effort through their wide commitment to initiatives such as Victory Loan campaigns or calls for voluntary community service. But given Winnipeg's diversity, was the Second World War a unifying event for Winnipeg residents? In The Patriotic Consensus, Jody Perrun explores the wartime experience of ordinary Winnipeggers through their responses to recruiting, the treatment of minorities, and the adjustments made necessary by family separation.
